- Spring Boot and MicroProfile; Jakarta EE; Microservice architectures; Docker containers and Kubernetes; deployments on AWS, Google Cloud Platform, Azure, OpenShift and Heroku; CI/CD build pipelines as code; API gateways; ... all of this does not only ring a bell - you actually have hands on experience in these technologies (or you can hardly wait to dig in).

- You embrace change, keeping up to date on latest technological evolutions and changes, such as service meshes, polycloud, serverless solutions, etc.

Assume nothing, question everything!

- You have an analytical and critical mind.

- Problems do not exist, there are only challenges to overcome.

- Finding elegant solutions for potentially complex issues gives you a sense of satisfaction.

- You understand that not all code is the same. You strive for quality. You are proud of the work you deliver.

- You are a real team player, you understand that many hands make light work.

- Sharing knowledge is your second nature; you push not only yourself, but also your colleagues to continuously improve on all levels.

- In all of this you are customer oriented and you strive to get the job done.

- Communication is essential as you are working together with a team of developers, architects, analysts, project managers and others.
